Spring Cleaning

It's that time of year when spring cleaning chores get a bit confused by the temperature. But it has to be done, and four-year-old Kelly Donovan donned winter jacket and cap during last weekend's blustery weather and set out to sweep up the walk in front of her Andover street home.

Pole Hill May Be Spared From Development

By Sue Aucella Deacon

After seven months of on-and-off, sometimes stormy negotiations, town officials may have succeeded in striking a deal to save Ballardvale's Pole Hill from development into a 69-home subdivision, the town manager has indicated.

With 1981 annual town meeting's blessing, town officials have been negotiating with developer Arthur Kalogianis of T.D.J. Development Corp. to swap the 45-acre hill site for the 26-acre town-owned "tea lots" off Woburn Street. One of the highest spots in Andover, Pole Hill overlooks the Shawsheen River, and has been called one of the town's most scenic locations.

After discussing the negotiations with the selectmen in executive session last Tuesday night, Town Manager Kenneth P. Mahony said, "It looks like we've got the thing straightened out. Hopefully it will be resolved before the end of the week."

Yesterday the manager said he had spoken with the developer's representatives, and was waiting to hear from them again. Mahony said the matter probably could be settled without returning to the selectmen.

The developer presented new plans for a smaller Pole Hill development to the Planning Board last Tuesday night — possibly a good indication that he is prepared to swap the hill.

Planning Board Chairman David Gravelle said the developer came in with blueprints for a 15-house subdivision on the hill (which would include one existing house), built in a row on a 40-foot street with one cul-de-sac.

That subdivision would extend only a little beyond the area the developer has already cleared on the hill, the chairman said. The plans also include revised sewage and water specifications.

Although it was an informal presentation only and the plans had not yet been submitted to the town, Gravelle said the board was "favorably disposed" toward the 15-lot plan.

He explained that the planners "would much rather see 15 houses there than 69. It also seems a good way to avoid most of the sedimentation and soil erosion problems we have been concerned about."

The Conservation Commission and planners believe that if 69 houses were built on the hill, they would create serious soil erosion and sedimentation problems for the Shawsheen River and surrounding property.

A series of discussions on those potential problems, involving the state Department of Environmental Quality Engineering, re-

Parents Evening Scheduled

The Andover Peer Counseling Project will hold a Parents Evening in the Andover High School Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 13. Parents of peer counselors and other members of the community are invited to attend.

The evening will feature presentations by the Community Advisory Council, peer counselors and the project staff. The peer counseling drama group, "The Connection," will offer a special performance as well.

Refreshments will be served.

Boards In Agreement On Budget

Meeting briefly together at Town Hall Monday night, the Finance Committee, School Committee and Board of Selectmen agreed they would go into town meeting supporting a $12.9 million school budget.

FinComm Chairman Ruth Dunbar said she wanted the three committees to discuss "how this would be handled when we go into town meeting." Her committee felt "we should run with the vote" and recommend approval of a $12.9 million school budget, she said.

In light of last week's defeat of the Prop. 2½ referendum question, the selectmen and school committee said they would have to agree: "I don't see that there's any alternative," School Chairman Richard Neal joked.

Left unsettled was the question of just how the school budget would appear in the FinComm report mailed to townspeople before town meeting.

Dunbar said it might confuse voters to leave in the school committee's original request for $14.9 million, made in January.

Neal said his committee had not discussed that question yet, but would probably change the figure to $12.9 million — with a note explaining that after weeks of budget discussions, the committee still believes $14.3 million is needed to run the schools.

Financial Forecaster Proposed

The School Committee chairman Monday night proposed creating a special committee that would forecast Andover's financial fortunes for the next two or three years.

Chairman Richard Neal asked the Finance Committee to consider pulling together an advisory committee made up of representatives from the FinComm, school committee and selectmen, and including the town's Finance and Budget director and the schools' business manager.

Such a committee could help the town and schools plan ahead, Neal suggested, "as opposed to looking at (budgeting) on a year-to-year basis."

FinComm members replied that Neal was actually looking for a three-year budget. They indicated that they would take his request under advisement.

Tax Bills Are Escaping Destination

Persons having post office boxes are escaping the inevitable.

Tax bills sent to local addresses are being returned if the homeowner happens to be a boxholder.

Tax Collector Myron H. Muise reported this week that a number of bills and other documents are being returned to the treasurer's office as being undeliverable, since the post office box number is not contained on the envelope.

And, since the town is aware of the street address and not the box number, he has requested those persons so affected to check with his office to be sure to receive the bill and any other important municipal items which may have been returned.

Recyclers Seek Donations

May is the month for two major recycling events in Andover: the town aluminum drive on Saturday, May 1, from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m. behind Town Hall, and the Giant Recycling Sale at Draper Hall, School Street, on Saturday, May 22, from 10 a.m. until mid-afternoon. Both efforts benefit the town of Andover and keep valuable materials from the dead-end fate of being permanently discarded in the rubbish.

The Giant Recycling Sale needs donations of used items of all kinds that are in good enough condition to be used. Many of the articles received by Andover Recycling in the past have been in excellent shape but have simply been outgrown, replaced by a more up-to-date model, or cleared out because of moves or changes of living pattern in a household.

Pickups are being made by Peter Stark and the members of Boy Scout Troop 72, as well as by members of Andover Recycling, Inc. For information and requests for pickup, call any number on the recycling calendar. Mrs. James W. Beattie and Mrs. Clement Hutchins are chairing the Giant Recycling Sale and the town aluminum drive and would welcome calls also.

Gordonstoun Orchestra At Phillips

The senior orchestra of the Gordonstoun School in Scotland will visit Phillips Academy the weekend of April 2-4 as part of its concert tour of the eastern United States. Members of the Andover Chamber Orchestra and Director William Thomas have planned a full weekend for their guests.

A full symphonic ensemble of 40 players, the Orchestra of Gordonstoun School and its director, John Nicolson, will arrive at Andover on Friday, April 2. They will perform at 8 p.m. in Cochran Chapel. Music will include Wagner's Overture, "Die Meistersinger," "Alleluia Timpanis" by David Bedford, the world premiere of Bedford's "Sextet For Wind Quintet and Piano" and Haydn's Symphony No. 92, "Oxford," in G Major.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited.

The Gordonstoun School was founded by Kurt Hahn, a German/British educator who brought his ideals in education to England in 1933, following his release from a Nazi prison through the intervention of the British government. Gordonstoun School opened as a school for boys in 1934 with a class of 21 students. Among those was a young Greek prince named Philip, later to become consort to Queen Elizabeth II.

Hahn's strong feelings regarding character building as part of education resulted in the students of his school being deeply involved in all aspects of the school's operation. The Outward Bound schools were a result of Hahn's innovative ideas. Joshua Miner, director of admissions at Andover, taught at the Gordonstoun School under Hahn in the early 1950s and was instrumental in bringing Outward Bound to the United States.

Today the Gordonstoun School is coeducational, and music is also a very important part of school life. Its current headmaster, Michael Mavor, and Mrs. Mavor expect to join the orchestra for part of the tour.

Medic Alert To Be Topic Of LGH Talk

"Your Safety Begins with You" will be the topic of a program at Lawrence General Hospital (LGH) on Tuesday, April 6, at 7:30 p.m. in Kurth auditorium to highlight National Medic Alert Week April 4-10.

"Over 40 million people in the United States have hidden medical problems which emergency personnel, in a critical situation where seconds count, would have to know," said Jose Silva, MD, director of LGH's emergency department.

"For example, the unconscious victim wearing contact lenses could have serious damage to the eyes if the lenses are not removed. If the victim wears a medical identification racelet or cad for hidden medical problems for epilepsy to heart condition to allergies, then emergency personnel can take appropriate action."

The Merrimack Valley emergency medical technicians and paramedics will discuss emergency situations and the importance of the individual's participation in his own emergency care through the use of medical identification for hidden medical problems.

The presentation is free and open to the public.

Open House

Continuum will hold an open house Wednesday, April 14, at 9:30 a.m. to discuss the joys and benefits of career internships. Free to all.

For gardening buffs, there will be a plant table manned by Ralph Henshaw, with an array of fresh spring flowers and plants.

The ladies of the Grange will have a bakery table, featuring fresh baked cakes, cookies and other sweets.

There will be a craft table with a large assortment of hand-fashioned items.

Anyone wishing to donate items for the sale may contact Ellen Hayes, chairman of the event, and the committee will arrange to pick up any items that cannot be delivered to the hall.

Historians To View 'The Till'

The Andover Historical Society will present an informal look at how Andoverites made their money in the nineteenth century at a morning coffee Tuesday, April 6, at 9:30 a.m. Entitled "The Till," the program is offered to the public free of charge and features a discussion of various aspects of Andover businesses in the great Age of Entrepreneurs.

Four different areas of Andover enterprise will be examined—banks and insurance, the Andover Press, local industries such as Tyer Rubber and retail stores. Different speakers will describe each of these four types of business and a slide show illustrating the spectrum of Andover's commercial ventures will complete the program.

The morning coffee is part of the series, "The Mill, the Till and the Hill" which is being presented this year by the Andover Historical Society. "The Till" was organized by Barbara Loomer, chairman of the program committee, with the assistance of Rita Buchan, Ruth Sharpe and Bernice Haggerty.

North Parrish Treble Chorus

Benefit Concert At St. Augustine's

The North Parrish Treble Chorus will present the third of three concerts to benefit their sustenance fund on Friday, April 16, at 8 p.m. at St. Augustine's Church, Essex Street, Andover. The concert will include many of the traditional favorites of the chorus' audiences, as well as some semi-staged numbers by Gilbert and Sullivan and Hindemith. For children and adults alike it will be a concert you will not want to miss. The concert is sponsored by the parent association of the Treble Chorus.

In its brief six-year history the chorus has performed numerous times on television and radio, as well as over 100 concerts throughout the New England area. Last year found the chorus on tour in the Berkshires. Next year the hope is to take the children to sing in New York City. The chorus has been a recipient of a Massachusetts Council on the Arts grant. It has gained backing from numerous individuals, organizations and businesses throughout the communities in which it performs. The summer music camp called Singers Workshop held the third week in August has become highly respected throughout the Boston and North Shore areas and has trained over 400 children in its five-year history.

Slide Show Portrays Faces Of Andover

Who, in the history of Andover, were Abraham Marland, Nathan Frye and Peter Byers Smith? And how did Hobart Clark, Timothy Flagg and Amos Blanchard contribute to our town's development? What did these and many other outstanding local citizens of the town of Andover look like?

You can find out at the Andover Historical Society Sunday, April 4, at 2 p.m. and again at 3 p.m. when a new slide show entitled "Ancestral Images: A Portrait Archive" will be offered at a nominal charge.

Since its founding in 1911, the Andover Historical Society has been entrusted with the care and protection of the portrait images of many of our illustrious citizens. In recent years, under the direction of Geneva H. Killorin, the society has used its own resources to arrest evidences of deterioration caused by the ravages of time. Professional restoration procedures, using acceptable museum standards, was called for. These irreplaceable works can now be viewed in a state of healthy preservation, clean and brilliant in color.

The society has a three-fold purpose in offering this slide show: (1) to show at one sitting the faces of an impressive number of early Andover citizens who helped to shape the history of the town; (2) to note briefly the skills of the trained artist as shown in some subjects and to point out the difference between these and the work of the so-called itinerant or provincial artist; and (3) the society will show some steps which were required in the conservation process.

The Andover Historical Society is a non-profit, educational institution open to both members and public. For information on open hours exhibitions, tours, special events and membership, call the office, open Monday through Friday.

AFS Chapter Hosts Eight Students

The Andover High AFS Club recently hosted eight students for a five-day exchange program. Six students from Poughkeepsie, N.Y., were joined by two students from Oxen Hill, Md., for their stay with Andover families.

The group arrived March 18 and attended classes at AHS with their host brother/sister the next day. Later in the day the club sponsored a tour of Phillips Academy and Andover center. Friday evening the students and club members attended the high school's "Cabaret" production.

On Saturday the group enjoyed a trip into Boston. Led by Tim Thomas, the AFS club advisor, they visited the Museum of Science, Quincy Market and "Where's Boston?" That night a party was held at a club member's house in honor of the guests. Sunday morning the visiting students joined club members for a New England brunch and enjoyed a leisurely day ending with an informal get-together for their last night. The group left Monday morning for their bus trip back.

Andover High students will have the opportunity to travel to Poughkeepsie for the counterpart of the exchange in the spring with arrangements made through the AFS club.

Andover AFS has sponsored numerous exchanges, national and international, for a number of years. They promote cultural awareness at the high school level. This year's short term exchange was coordinated by Theresa Park, club president Tricia Gannon and vice president, Lori Cohen.

Student Hosts Are Needed

Families in Andover now have the chance to add an international dimension to their lives by opening their homes for one month in July to a WEST exchange student.

The World Educational Student Travel program, known as WEST, is a non-profit organization whose purpose is to increase international understanding by bringing together the youths of the world.

WEST host families accept an international student into their homes to participate in their daily lives, not as a tourist or guest. These families are volunteers who provide room and board and offer the student the same guidance and love they give to their own children. It is a unique experience for all involved and certainly a time to learn and grow. Families interested in participating in this program can receive more information by contacting their local community representative, Joanne Quinlan.

Program Director Speaker

Linnea Gershenberg, early childhood program head of Andover Public Schools, was an invited speaker at the annual conference of the California Association for the Education of Young Children in Sacramento, Calif. Her topic, "Early Childhood Education in Kenya and Uganda," was drawn from four years of teaching and doing research in East Africa.

Entitled Kaleidoscope '82, the conference was attended by approximately 2,000 early childhood professionals and offered almost 200 speakers and workshops over the three-day period. Although every aspect of early childhood education was covered, there was a definite emphasis on day care and the changing family.

Mrs. Gershenberg discussed the varied quality of preschools in Uganda and Kenya and noted that in Urban Kampala, Uganda, and Nairobi, Kenya, preschools are very similar to those in American towns and cities and deal with similar problems. However, preschool education in the rural areas of East Africa, affecting 87 percent of the population, are usually very simple and typically have classes of over 50 children for one teacher. Preschool education determines the quality of the primary school a child may attend in East Africa and therefore, has become a sought-after service.

In addition to her talk, Mrs. Gershenberg attended workshops and seminars and visited two schools. Both schools are grouping children developmentally at the kindergarten level using Gesell testing. One of the schools has been doing so for 19 years with great success.

PERSIAN & OTHER VALUABLE ORIENTAL RUGS

Upon receiving the documents, the importers found the goods were to be shipped for European market. Contents were different from those ordered. Since the goods were on the way to U.S. territories and it would be a great loss and expensive to reroute the merchandise, custom duty was paid and those financially responsible for the unpaid shipment have instructed their U.S. agents to auction off the entire collection and other valuable pieces in single units regardless of retail value.

WESTern Round-up

By Kristen James

The Spanish students at West Junior High are looking forward to several interesting upcoming events. On Thursday ninth grade Spanish students, under the supervision of Mrs. Weber and Miss Humlack, will travel to Boston to see a performance by dancers of Spain and Mexico. The trip will also be highlighted by a short stop at Boston's Faneuil Hall.

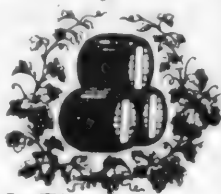

Another event for Spanish students is the annual district Spanish contest which will be held Saturday at West Junior High. Eighth and ninth grade students of the following teachers will represent West: Mr. Halsted, Mrs. Weber, Mrs. Fitzgibbons, Miss Humlack and Miss Dorion. The test, a difficult one, consists of a reading and a listening section. Buena suerte—good luck to all Spanish students participating.

On Monday several teams of students donned their gym suits to participate in a Jump-a-thon for the Heart Fund. The teams collected sponsors and for three hours on Monday, they jumpoped continuously. The teams that completed the three hours of jumpoping and filled their sponsor sheets are eligible for several prizes. Thanks to all who participated in the Heart Fund's Jump-a-thon.

The art enrichment group, under the direction of Miss Iverson, is looking forward to their exploratory trip to the Lawrence Eagle Tribune art department. The students will watch various different aspects of a job in art design. It should prove to be an educational as well as an informative trip for students interested in pursuing a career in art.

East Junior High Happenings

By Jennifer Tucker and Tracy Lasch

East Junior High's contribution to the Merrimack Valley is represented by essays of the seventh and eighth grade students participating in the Bay State Essay Contest. The topic of these essays was energy. Students were to write a composition on their thoughts on energy conservation. Semi-finalists from the seventh grade were Christie Bourcy, Lynne Brocklesby, Carlos Conzaes, Scott MacIntyre and Jeremy Payne. Eighth grade students were Ed Anuff, Sara Corbett, Michael DiMeo, Kristen Harol and Robert Hoyt. Finalists will be chosen by a panel of professors from Merrimack College. The English department congratulates the semi-finalists and thanks all who participated.

Another contest East students took part in was the Merrimack Valley District National History Day. We are proud to announce that Bonnie Lee Mclellan, an eighth grade student, won first prize in the individual performance category. She will now go on to compete in the state competition in May. The winners will be awarded an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C., to participate further in the National History Day competition.

As part of the on-going career education program at East, Mrs. Norma Roberts of the Guidance Department has started a career folder for each ninth grade student. These folders will go on to the high school guidance department where students will continue to add to them. The first addition to this collaboration of information will be a printout from the Massachusetts Occupation Information Service (MOIS) computer terminal. The printout, an interests questionnaire, will give the students a list of careers for them to consider according to their interests so that they may then explore further into these occupations.

Raymond Danielson, also of the guidance department, has also been working hard with the career education program. In conjunction with the Boy Scouts of America, he has had each student in the school fill out an interests survey. The purpose of this survey is to find out where the greatest amount of interests are. After we find the results, we may set up some after-school activities and have guest speakers. We are all very grateful to our hard-working guidance counselors who have lightened the load of finding a career for all of us.

The foreign language department has been busy for the past few weeks. We are anxiously waiting the results of the French contest and look forward to the Spanish contest on Friday.

The debate club at East, led by Patrick Finnigan and Louis Eiserman, both of the Social Studies Department, is open to students from all grades. Since October, members have been researching topical issues as they relate to debates. This year the topic chosen by members of the club is "Should the construction of all nuclear power plants in the United States be halted?"

Learning how to debate requires much practice and patience. Debating involves learning a new vocabulary and covering unfamiliar ground. The fundamentals of debate—oral expression, public speaking and strategies—are covered in depth.

Debate club members this year are primarily from the eighth and ninth grades. They are Tom Darling, Ken Davis, Steven Francis, Mal Galvin, Brian Garside, Harild Gillam, Kim Guzowski, Nicole Krauson, Tod Labrie, Chris Leech, Bonnie Lee Mclellan, Philip Minotti, Eric Motte, Jim Pelz, Dan Shertzer, Brett Sullivan and Barry Tucker.

Congratulations to the gymnastics team, coached by Patricia Barrett, for winning its first meet on Friday against West Junior High!

We are all looking forward to the up-coming dance on April 2 planned by Kenneth Pellerin and the student council. The dance will be from 7:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. at East.

Documentary

On Saturday, April 3, at 2 p.m. the Peabody Museum of Salem will present "The Shadow Catcher." This award-winning color documentary film explores the life and work of photographer, anthropologist and filmmaker, Edward S. Curtis, and the native Americans he worked with for over 32 years of his life.

Careers Day At Hospital

Lawrence General Hospital Aid Association will hold its annual Health Careers' Day for selected high school juniors on Wednesday, April 7 from 8:45 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Administration, communication, nursing, radiology and volunteer department presentations will be scheduled. Business offices, data processing, electro-encephalography, engineering, laboratory medicine, medical records, pharmacy, physical therapy and respiratory therapy will be visited on tours. Students will have an opportunity to learn about emergency medical technicians and paramedics from Paul Larkham of A-Medic Ambulance whose emergency vehicle will be available to visit.

Health Careers' Day offers an opportunity to high school juniors to learn about career options, job opportunities, educational requirements and responsibilities of the allied health professionals in a hospital setting. The hospital is like a town with many dissimilar but integrated parts. Departments employing carpenters and housekeepers are as important to the efficient running of the hospital as departments with pharmacists, laboratory technicians, physical therapists and nurses. Underlying all of these positions is a certain excitement of being part of the hospital community, a representative of the Aid Association said.

Students from Andover High, North Andover High, Methuen High, Central Catholic, St. Mary's, Presentation of Mary Academy, Salem, and Epping, N.H. will participate. Students who do not attend these schools may attend by calling Lawrence General Hospital volunteer office for a registration blank.

Kiwanis Offers Scholarships

Applications are available at area high schools for the 1982 Kiwanis Scholarship Program.

The Kiwanis Club of Greater Lawrence will present four $500 scholarships to high school seniors from both public and private schools in Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover.

The awards are outright grants, not loans. Financial need is the primary basis for scholarship awards. The scholarship committee also will consider the applicant's character and achievement.

Application forms are available in guidance offices at most high schools. Completed forms must be returned by April 23. Those selected will be notified in early May.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Rudolph L. Lanterme, chairman of the scholarship committee, 335 Essex St., Lawrence

Their New Orleans-style jazz of Scott Joplin, Louis Armstrong, Duke Ellington and many others has led critics to acclaim them as "one of the most exciting jazz bands to come along in quite awhile. Writing Romances Discussed

While writing romance novels is not a typical nine-to-five job, many women in the Boston area are making a successful living spinning tales of beautiful virgin orphans adrift in exotic locations.

Two such authors and a marketing expert from a leading publisher of romance novels will reveal the secrets of the successful romance writer and tell who is actually reading the steamy sagas at a dinner meeting of the Boston Professional Chapter of Women in Communications, Inc. (WICI) on Thursday, March 18, at 6 p.m. at the Copley

Plaza Hotel, Boston.

Author Elizabeth Wallace, who is under contract to McFadden Romances and is an associate writer for the ABC-TV soap opera "All My Children," Jill Bloom Mooradian, who writes under the name Jill Moore for Bantam Books, and Katherine Orr, consumer relations director for Harlequin Books, will be the speakers. Orr is responsible for linking authors with Harlequin editors.

Merrimack To Raise Tuition

Merrimack College will increase tuition $490 and room and board $300 for the 1982-83 academic year, President Rev. John E. Deegan, O.S.A., has announced.

Tuition will be $4,750 and room and board rates will be $3,000 at the Augustinian college next year. The changes represent a 11.5 percent increase in tuition and 11.1 percent increase in room and board.

"We have made every effort to keep increases at a minimum," remarked Fr.

Deegan. He cited "inflation and a turbulent economy" as major reasons for the increases, noting that, "All colleges and universities face similar conditions, and by comparison, Merrimack's 11.5 percent tuition increase is well below the estimated 15 percent average increase for most four-year independent institutions in New England this year."

The Merrimack president added, "The college has taken an aggressive approach to controlling costs while most important of all, we have not weakened the college by curtailing academic programs and student services."

Fr. Deegan pointed to the proposed financial aid cuts in President Ronald Reagan's 1983-84 budget and Governor Edward King's 1982-83 budget as major areas of concern for colleges, students, parents and the general public. "These cuts are extreme and threaten the structure of higher education," he warned. "As a result of these cuts, many students throughout the country may not be able to attend a college of their choice and many students may not be able to attend a college at all."

Gypsy Moth Information Available

A newly-formed committee of University of Massachusetts specialists is gearing up to provide statewide gypsy moth information this spring.

The nine-member committee will answer public questions about gypsy moths and will prepare and distribute university gypsy moth information. The committee was appointed by Dean Daniel Padberg of the College of Food and Natural Resources and director of the University of Massachusetts Cooperative Extension Service.

According to Dr. Francis W. Holmes, committee chairperson and director of the university's Shade Tree Laboratories, the first step taken by the group was to send a copy of the UMass Cooperative Extension Service publication, "Gypsy Moth," to every public library and high school biology teacher in the Commonwealth. Holmes also said that detailed gypsy moth information for your city or town can be provided by the local tree warden or superintendent of insect pest control.

More information can be obtained by calling the Extension Line, a taped message service of the Norfolk County Extension Service, or by contacting members of the gypsy moth committee.

Pioneering Help For Newborns

Pioneer Partners

Pioneer Partners Connie Connors of North Andover and Connie Hosford of Haverhill present layettes to Michael McGinnis of the Lawrence General Hospital Social Services Department. Clothing Our Needy Newborns (CONN) is a project of the Pioneer Partners who are spouses of Telephone Pioneers of America, Chapter 78, Merrimack Valley Works. Local hospitals and visiting nurses will distribute the layettes to needy infants.

Local Pioneers have started a new project to clothe newborns who would otherwise leave the hospital with less than the bare necessities. Clothing Our Needy Newborns (CONN) is the first undertaking of Pioneer spouses called Pioneer Partners.

The Pioneer Partners are donating hand-crafted layettes of baby clothing to local hospitals to distribute to mothers of the needy newborns. Pioneer Partners began CONN after learning it is not uncommon for newborns to leave hospitals with only a diaper and a blanket.

Chairwomen, Connie Hosford of Haverhill and Connie Connors of North Andover, report many nonmembers involved in CONN are senior citizens who volunteered to knit and to sew infant clothing. Pioneer Chapter 78 supplies the material and yarn.

They said the enthusiasm of the Pioneers has been matched by the senior citizens who are anxious to help our youngest residents.

The Telephone Pioneers of America is the largest service organization in the world with more than 550,000 members. Chapter 78 consists of active and retired employees of Western Electric and Bell Labs at the Merrimack Valley Works in North Andover.

Layettes have already been donated to Lawrence General, Bon Secours and Hale Hospitals. Other hospitals in the Merrimack Valley will be added as the clothing inventory increases.

People do not expect new mothers nowadays to be so poverty stricken although the need is very real, but incidents have been reported where discharge from the hospital has been delayed until clothing could be obtained, according to Pioneer Partners chairwomen.

The plight of the unwed mother is sometimes even more pathetic. She is often disowned by family and friends and has no one to assist her.

Just as important as the clothing will be the implied message that someone cares: Enclosed with each kit will be a card congratulating the mother. Together, the card and the gift, will offer encouragement.

Anyone or group interested in supporting CONN by knitting, sewing, cutting patterns or donating money is asked to contact the Pioneer Office at the Merrimack Valley Works.

HOW TO WIN AT THE LOSING GAME DIET CENTER®

When you decide to lose weight, COMPARE!

There are hundreds of fad diets, formal weight loss programs and so called miracle cures for the problem of excess weight. The problem with most of them is that they concentrate solely upon losing weight. If you rely upon prepackaged foods, shots, drugs or a severely reduced food intake to lose weight, what will you do once that weight is lost? The vast majority of people revert to the old eating habits that caused the problem in the first place, and excess weight soon returns. Not so at Diet Center!

OUR PROGRAM WORKS AND IT'S TOTALLY NATURAL

At Diet Center, weight is lost quickly and safely, but what's even more important, dieters are taught how to maintain ideal weight for a lifetime. Through private, daily counseling sessions and weekly classes in nutrition and behavior modification, Diet Center will teach you how satisfying a nutritionally balanced diet can be.

LOSE 17 TO 25 POUNDS IN JUST 6 WEEKS!

And, if necessary, that rate of reduction can be sustained until you have lost 50, 75 or even 100 pounds and more... without hunger, nervousness or loss of energy.

AND WE'LL TEACH YOU HOW TO KEEP IT OFF!

Lecture On Adolescence

On Friday, April 2, at 8 p.m. The Unitarian Universalist Church of Andover, which meets at Andover's November Club at 6 Locke St., presents an evening with Robert Kegan, Ph.D.

Kegan is a lecturer on education at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, a member of the core faculty at the Massachusetts School of Professional Psychology and co-director of the Clinical-Developmental Institute in Belmont. An irrepressible storyteller, impassioned opponent of the health-and-illness approach to psychological distress, he brings an original and distinctive new voice in the growing discussion of human development across the human life span.

His latest book, "The Evolving Self," published by Harvard University Press, describes the meaning-making process of evolution which begins in earliest infancy and continues to evolve through a series of stages encompassing childhood, adolescence and adulthood. Using Piagetian theory in a creative new way to make sense of how we make sense of ourselves, Dr. Kegan shows that each stage is a new solution to the lifelong tension between the universal human yearning to be connected, attached and included on the one hand, and to be distinct, independent and autonomous on the other.

Copies of the speaker's book will be available, and Kegan will remain to autograph, if desired.

Dr. Kegan has entitled his talk "You're Not Crazy, but You Might be Going Out of Your Mind: Natural Emergencies in Adolescence." Anyone connected with, or concerned by teenagers, will want to attend this presentation, liberally laced with wit. Tickets are available through the church office at 28 Florence St., Mrs. Robert Stier of Andover, or at the door.

Special Service In Vale

The Ballard Vale United Church of Andover marks Palm/Passion Sunday with a special service at 11 a.m. The congregation will meet outside the front of the church building for a Palm Sunday liturgy and then the children of the church will lead the people into the sanctuary in a processional complete with palms, banners, rhythm instruments and songs.

The Rev. Gary S. Cornell, pastor, will have "Jubilation Before the Passion" as his preaching theme. The children will sing "We Love Because He First Loved Us" and "Jesus Came Into Jerusalem." The service will close with a dramatic reading of the Passion according to the Mark's Gospel. The church choir will sing "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord." John Logan is the lay reader.

The junior high and senior youth fellowships will meet at the church at 7 p.m. to make final plans for the Easter Sunrise service and breakfast. The service will be at 6 a.m. at the Reichhold Chemical Grounds, followed by breakfast at 7 a.m.

Seminar

A two-day seminar for working women entitled "Management of Time and Change for the Two Career Woman," will be held at Salem State College from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, April 17-18.

A Weekend Of Liturgical Dance

The Smith Purdon Fund of West Parish Church, Andover, invites the community to attend a weekend of spiritual dance in three parts with Carla DeSola and The Liturgical Dance Group.

The Omega Liturgical Dance Company, a company of lay dancers in residence at the Cathedral Church of St. John the Divine, New York City, was founded in 1974 to express the spiritual-social-healing dimensions of dance, to explore the inner aspects of movement integrated with the world's spiritual resources, to bring dance into religious observances and in concert for all settings, including the liturgical framework.

DeSola, director and founder of the company, is a graduate of Juilliard and studies with Valerie Bettis. She has pioneered in liturgical dance for 12 years, dancing and conducting workshops throughout the country. Author of "Learning Through Dance" and "The Spirit Moves...A Handbook on Dance and Prayer," she teaches at the College of New Rochelle.

Part I—The Workshop will take place Saturday, April 3, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Liturgical Dance Group To Perform

As part of the Lenten Musical Program of South Church, 41 Central St., Andover, the Boston Liturgical Dance Ensemble from Boston College will join in the celebration of the Palm Sunday worship service April 4.

Boston Liturgical Dance Ensemble was founded by its director, Rev. Robert VerEeck, S.J., with the assistance of Carol Coggio and Brian Faherty, two former directors of the Modern Dance Company of Boston College. The ensemble is open to all BC alumni, students and staff and performs concerts, celebrates liturgies and offers workshops in the Boston area. In the past two years the group has performed in New York, Washington and other cities.

The Sanctuary Choir of South Church, under the direction of Keith Gould, will provide music for the Boston Liturgical Dance Ensemble. The choir will sing "Antiphon" (Five Mystical Songs) by R.V. Williams.

DeSola and members of the group will lead a workshop that will include technique. Participants will be invited to dance in the worship service Sunday morning and/or in the performance Sunday night. A registration fee includes a light lunch.

Part II—Worship Sunday, April 4, at 10:30 a.m. The group will be part of the Palm Sunday Worship Service.

Part III—The Concert will be Sunday night at 7 p.m. at the West Elementary School Auditorium. Choreography based on the Cain and Abel story will be performed. The work was commissioned by the National Council of Churches.

There will be a Mass at 7 p.m. prior to the choral presentation.

There will be no admission fee, but an offering will be accepted.

Andover's Newest Elderly Complex

Project Ahead Of Schedule

Construction of Andover's newest elderly project, designated for completion this September, is well ahead of schedule.

Thomas P. Walsh, the executive director, has indicated that the 50-units project for the elderly and handicapped is looking good as the wooden frame work of the three story building takes shape.

The general contractor, Paul J. Stella Construction Company of Wakefield, has been slowed down by the cold and snow of January but only two work days have been lost despite the bad weather.

The $1.4 million complex is set in the hillside close to the Grandview Terrace elderly project and looks out at a beautiful view over the new athletic fields of the Andover school department.

Applications for elderly housing in Andover can be obtained at the main office, 100 Morton St.

School Board Takes A Look But Fails To Adjust Its Budget

By Sue Aucella Deacon

The School Committee came away from their first pass on five accounts in a $12.9 million budget Tuesday night without making any major changes in the school system — and without making any substantial progress.

One parent called the committee's decision to maintain the teaching staff largely as-is "an exercise in fantasy."

And Chairman Richard Neal warned that unless the committee completes a first pass on all 28 accounts next week to come up with "a bottom-line figure, we're going to be in a serious spot."

"I'm afraid we haven't accomplished a lot in getting us toward a $12.9 figure," he said.

The committee now has three weeks to reduce its $14.3 million budget to $12.9 million in time for town meeting.

Although town meeting will vote on salary and expense totals only, and not individual line items, committee members said they feel a "responsibility" to explain each account, so voters will know what they are voting on.

However, Neal said he did not want to "make hasty decisions we will have to live with just to meet the April 26 deadline. It is my intention to have a line item budget completed, but the town does not have control over individual line items."

The committee began their first pass, before a near-capacity audience in the West Elementary auditorium, by tackling what Michael Giammusso termed "the most important accounts": teaching, transportation, program advisors, assistant principals, and audio-visual.

Discussion began with an encore of last week's debate over how the budget review should be handled. The chairman suggested the committee run through line items in the administration's recommended $12.9 million budget, first presented on March 16.

Giammusso and Donald Robb said they agreed with that approach. But Susan Poore maintained that the committee should not "be creating a budget," but should set a budget policy for the administration to follow instead. Poore said she "felt more comfortable being a policy-maker."

She added that she needed more information on some accounts before making decisions.

When the committee began looking at the teaching account, Poore said she saw the budget reduction as "a short-term, two or three year phenomenon." With that in mind, she recommended making no reduction in the elementary teaching staff, and no reduction in athletics, for example.

But Robb said cuts in next year's budget would "set a pattern and a trend — clearly it's not going to get better. (Proposition 2½ is a permanent condition with us, and assuming that we can save whole programs is an insidious and false approach. There are going to be permanent changes."

No such changes were approved Tuesday night, however. The committee rejected closing the West Traditional program, for example, one option proposed by the administration. (Please see accompanying story.)

Instead, they voted to maintain that program and cut elementary staffing levels from the current level of 96 teachers to 88. Eliminating the traditional program would have cut an additional five teachers.

And at the secondary level, they voted to cut only one teacher, not 21.5 as the administration had suggested would be possible.

Stephen Flashenburg of Launching Road called the conservative cuts the committee made in the teaching salary account "an exercise in fantasy," because teaching salaries represented about 60 percent of the $14.3 million budget — and larger cuts will have to be made there if the committee is to achieve a $12.9 million figure.

Moving onto another account, Neal noted, "We're going to have to come back to this one, obviously."

Transportation also escaped drastic cuts on the first pass. (Please see accompanying story). Four committee members voted to maintain current levels of bus service, with only Robb opposed.

On the supervisors and principals accounts, Giammusso proposed sending both program advisors and assistant principals back into the classroom for 20 percent of their time.

His motions were approved, but Neal said the committee will have to discuss the proposal with legal counsel, to be sure the administrators' contracts allow classroom teaching.

"I feel strongly that program advisors perform a very important function in planning, providing consistency of service, control and discipline," Giammusso said. "But I certainly feel they have to accept some of the impact (of budget cuts)."

Robb said that cutting the time program advisors spend developing the curriculum and implementing new ideas would be felt in the classroom, especially if programs and teaching staff are cut.

And Mitsakos said that since program advisors evaluate the teaching staff, those detailed evaluations would now have to be done every other year, instead of every year.

Supt. Kenneth Seifert called cutting the program advisors supervisory time "a very, very significant policy decision."

But Poore indicated that program advisors are "a layer of bureaucracy. If you have to cut, my concern is cutting from the top down, and not from the classroom teacher. The bureaucratic level is one we have to consolidate, and in some cases eliminate."

Giammusso's companion motion on the assistant principals drew no discussion. Both motions passed with three-two votes; Poore and Robert Smith were opposed.

Finally, Smith proposed trimming the audio-visual account by cutting the number of media librarians from nine to five, while increasing the number of aides from 6.6 to 8.6. His motion passed on a four-one vote, with Giammusso opposed.

Giammusso said he would prefer to keep the number of professional library staffers at a higher level and reduce the number of aides to zero, if necessary. Volunteers might take up the slack, he suggested.

Among other responsibilities, media librarians teach students at all levels how to use library materials, help develop curriculum, and contribute to in-service education programs for teachers.

At the next school committee meeting, scheduled for Tuesday night, the committee will attempt to review the remaining accounts, to complete their first pass on a $12.9 million budget. Those accounts include athletics, guidance, health services, textbooks and maintenance.

Traditional Program Accorded A Temporary Reprieve

The West Traditional program offered to some 300 students at West Elementary School escaped unscathed from a School Committee budget review Tuesday night, but it may be only a temporary reprieve.

After last week's defeat of the Proposition 2½-referendum question, the committee must cut next year's budget from $14.3 million to $12.9 million. The traditional program has emerged as one potential victim of reductions that must be made in the school system.

In a detailed written report, the school administration said they could cut five teachers and save $170,000 by closing the traditional program. That would increase the average elementary class size from 25 to 27 pupils, Asst. Supt. Charles Mitsakos explained.

About 200 students in the program would stay at West because it is their neighborhood school, and the rest would be distributed among their neighborhood schools, Mitsakos explained.

A number of parents said they were against closing the program, in sometimes emotional terms.

"If you decide to close this program, what are you going to tell the children?" one mother asked the committee. "That money is more important than they are?"

Joseph Howard of Livingston Circle said that since it began in 1975, the traditional program has been "the core of the educational system you're talking about. You're really talking about destroying a core program. We're talking about elimination — that's not change."

Donald Robb repeated a point he had made earlier in the evening, that "change is difficult, but this budget is going to bring change."

He pointed out that the 350 children who were redistributed when the Doherty school closed two years ago, and the 250 children who attended Shawsheen School before its closing last year, "have survived."

And Chairman Richard Neal emphasized that "a $12.9 million budget was not our decision. We have a mandate on us, and this is going to cost a lot in this school system."

But new committeeman Robert Smith said it "doesn't make too much sense to close the traditional program," to applause from the large audience in the West Elementary auditorium.

And on a motion made by Susan Poore, the committee unanimously voted to keep the program open and maintain 88 elementary teachers, while reducing aide time by 25 percent.

But because that vote saved only about $130,000, Michael Giammusso predicted the committee would return to take another look at the traditional program on a second pass. He added that he favored further reductions in aide time as well.

At the secondary level, the administration recommended cutting 21.5 teachers, at a savings of nearly $400,000, while "maintaining the scope of the program we now have," Mitsakos said.

That could be accomplished in part by combining levels in some English and social studies classes, and increasing some class sizes in English, science and mathematics, he explained.

Committeeman Robb said it was unacceptable that the administration had recommended cutting only five elementary teachers, but more than 20 secondary teachers: "That's a very disproportionate impact."

Poore moved to cut only one teacher, as recommended under the higher budget. That motion passed on a three-two vote, with Neal and Giammusso dissenting.

Poore said she would like to go back and look at funds budgeted for specialists at a later date.

Just A Thought

By Bob Finneran

It all started Saturday with the appearance of a black bird perched atop a shed-like structure extending to the rear of the house.

He just sort of perched there, chest protruding proudly, surveying the landscape. Having provided ample feed during the winter months at a window-feeder, I figured it was just an appreciative gesture, showing that he welcomed spring and was grateful for the winter subsistence.

What I failed to realize is that it was hardly a show of appreciation but rather a showing of new residence quarters to a young, winged, couple, as I was to find out on Monday.

This yellow-billed brook had secured a 16 per cent mortgage from Birdland National, for the underside of the shed roof and the young starlings, or whatever, were preparing to move in through an aperture in the eave.

This was learned on Monday when, peering through the same kitchen window, I noticed a quantity of fluffy stuff, resembling cotton candy, blowing about the back yard.

Curiosity as to its origin was soon dispelled when a youthful starling emerged with a beakful of insulation from the eave and placed it neatly on the ground. The bird's neatness was to be admired, since each trip resulted in placement of the removed insulation in a pile. Only the soft breeze of the day dispersed it throughout the back yard.

Feeling that such work would soon become too arduous for such a small creature I went off to work figuring the project would not go very far.

But, by noon, the back yard was filled with small patches of insulation, giving every indication that the starling family fully intended to stay.

Time for security measures to be taken.

I took some remnants of screening and insuring that there were no occupants inside the insulation-stripped roof area, blocked the entrance, and departed, satisfied the situation was now well under control.

Underscoring the adage that "love will find a way," by the time I returned in the evening, not only had the plastic screening been ripped away, but additional insulation had been deposited on the lawn.

With that kind of perserverance and determination it just didn't seem right to disturb the young home-builders further and they are hereby granted residence.

While I'm confident that they can't get into the house proper, I'm sure we'll be thinking we hear the sound of chirps and flapping wings from time to time, until they decide to move out, after which the area will be thoroughly secured.

And, having displayed a certain amount of compassion under the circumstances, it is to be hoped that the assessors will take that into consideration and not view the house as a two-family job during their revaluation examination.

Editorial Comment

An Acute Need For Space

While the planning board may well have a plentiful agenda to cope with in the months ahead, we would suggest that the time has come for the planners to take a serious look at the overall downtown area or central business district and its confines.

It is becoming increasingly evident that there is need for expansion, a suggestion which has consistently been met with less than enthusiastic reception.

There have been attempts from time to time to extend the confines of the commercial area into the residential borders of the business district. Sometimes the rejection has been justified since the proposal to convert a residence to a commercial entity has been spotty and outside the confines of what would constitute a consistent business district.

The arguments may well have been valid in the past, and based on emotional appeals at town meeting quite generally resulted in retention of the business, or commercial district as it has existed for decades.

But, there is now an apparent and evident need for additional commercial space in the central area of the community, and some of the reason may just be based on success.

Within the existing commercial district several businesses have expanded, or are planning for additional space, resulting in some enterprises being forced from downtown locations.

When the business people begin looking for adequate space to continue their operations, none can be found to accommodate their needs. There exists, then, the distinct possibility that these businesses which are Andover-oriented and serve local people, will be forced to move to other communities, or cease operations.

The commercial enterprises are more the service operations or office-type, rather than large, heavy-volume stores. They have a place in the business zone, and provide needed services to local and area residents.

But space to accommodate them is at a premium, if any can be found at all.

What is suggested here is that the development and planning department begin a concise examination of the central business area and provide for some orderly and acceptable expansion.

There are a number of residential properties within the periphery of the central business district, which well could be classified as possible business sites, should they become available.

With an acceptable plan, it is conceivable that such conversion would lead to some relief to the present inability of business people to continue to enjoy serving the people of the community and at the same time realize the American dream of being a successful enterprise.

Frankly, based on a definitive display of interest among many current business residents, it would seem to be a matter in urgent need of address by the town's planners.

Architects Working On Practical Plan For Junior High Reuse

By Sue Aucella Deacon

A team of architects are now hard at work developing "a good set of working plans" for the reuse of East Junior High, a "very practical, logical" plan that town meeting will be asked to approve next month.

Architects from the small firm of DeNesco Kretch Associates reported back to the Reuse Committee Tuesday night, committee Chairman Lawrence Spiegel said this week.

They have been hired to do "a definitive study, once and for all, to determine how municipal functions can be combined into these two units," Spiegel explained, referring to the two wings of East that will soon be turned over to the town.

The central portion of the school, Memorial Auditorium, will be used as part of the new Doherty Junior High, now under construction.

The committee would like to see all town and school administrative offices consolidated at East. Those offices are now scattered among Town Hall, the theatre building on Essex Street, and the former Shawsheen School.

The architects, hired about three weeks ago, are currently studying how much space is available in the EJH wings, what it could be used for, and how town and school offices could be combined in the building.

For example, Spiegel said it might be possible for town and school offices to share such areas as a copy center and computer room, as well as a central filing system.

The architects are also looking at parking, and ways to improve the appearance of the area surrounding East.

Although the architects' plans will not be complete for another three weeks or so, the chairman said they currently foresee putting all community offices such as the town clerk's office on the first floor, executive offices like the town manager's on the second floor, and technical offices on the third floor.

Two floors in the west wing could be used for non-subsidized housing for senior citizens, he added.

During town meeting, the architects will make a visual presentation to voters, showing their design for the building and further descriptions, Spiegel indicated. "We will go to town meeting with all the facts town meeting needs to make a decision," he promised.

Voters will not decide exactly what will happen to East, he emphasized, but will simply allow town officials to "entertain proposals from developers."

Officials will return to town meeting with those proposals in hand, perhaps next year.

Nothing will be done to the school building without town meeting approval, Spiegel said.

And developers' proposals will have to meet "very definite, precise" guidelines from the town, he added.

Moving administrative offices into East would free three buildings for reuse, too, Spiegel pointed out. Developers would have major tax incentives for buying town hall, the theatre building or the Shawsheen School — and they could be placed on the tax rolls, with the town maintaining tight control over how the buildings would be rehabilitated.

Town meeting approval would enable town officials to solicit developer's proposals for each of those buildings, as well as Memorial Hall Library, which officials hope to expand.

The warrant article also asks for $3.5 million to be appropriated for construction and planning costs.

Spiegel sees town hall ("a fantastic building") used as a community center; Shawsheen, for "badly-needed" non-subsidized elderly housing.

The overall reuse plan could ease traffic and parking problems downtown, and "go a long way toward straightening out the downtown area," he added.

"This is a very, very exciting thing," the chairman commented. "It's an opportunity to make a contribution to the central business district — and the town should have a good, healthy central business base. It's good for the community."

The reuse committee is planning to meet weekly to finish the plans in time for town meeting, he noted. Meetings are held at town hall, and are posted 48 hours in advance on the town hall bulletin board.

Committee Retains Bus Service Level

Working on their $12.9 million budget Tuesday night, the School Committee voted to cut $75,000 from the transportation account — but without cutting existing levels of bus service.

The administration's recommended $12.9 million budget proposed maintaining current bus service: busing all secondary school students who live outside a two-mile radius of their schools and all elementary students outside a 1.5-mile radius. In addition, buses pick up all elementary students who live on streets considered hazardous for walking.

But administrators found they could save $75,000 by delaying the starting hour at elementary schools by 20 minutes, Business Manager Francis Paul explained. That would allow more efficient bus routes and save mileage costs.

Susan Poore moved to approve the administration's recommendation, which passed on a four-one vote.

Michael Giammusso endorsed the idea as "a valid approach to take — it makes a great deal of sense. It's certainly the way to

Only Donald Robb opposed the motion. The committee approved bus service for so-called unsafe neighborhoods last fall when parents protested proposed cuts in bus service — and at that time, committeemen called their decision a temporary solution.

Tuesday's vote "formalizes a non-policy policy," Robb said. "Now we have a policy (a 1.5-mile radius for elementary students), but it means nothing."

Robb has consistently maintained that the committee can no longer afford to offer bus service beyond those limits required by state law: a two-mile radius for all students.

He also said it was unwise to eliminate funds for a possible increase in gas prices from the account. The administration had included $16,000 for increased gas prices in its original $14.9 million budget, submitted in February.

The $522,200 transportation budget approved by the committee this week, on a first pass, also eliminates the late bus, at a $10,000 savings; and buses for seventh- and tenth-graders attending orientation, at a $1,150 savings.

Tourney Teams Have Winning Ways

By Rick Harrison

The four Andover All-Stars' youth basketball teams enjoyed another outstanding weekend, winning nine of 11 games and placing two teams in the championship games of their respective divisions at the annual Wakefield Invitational Tournament.

The Andover seventh graders, winners of two tournaments (Athol and Greater-Boston Pre-Teen) and semifinalist in a third (Tewksbury), won three more contests while advancing to the title game in Wakefield and the semifinals in the first annual Lawrence Jewish Community Center Tournament.

Andover coasted past Beverly 46-35 in the Wakefield Tournament quarter finals, and the locals put together one of their best overall team performances of the tourney season by belting the Everett Rats 60-35 in the semifinals.

Andover also hammered St. Joseph's of Salem, N.H. 44-20 in the quarterfinal round of the JCC Tournament.

The Andover All-Star eighth graders traveled to the south shore to compete in the New Bedford Invitational where they encountered two excellent teams and fought to the semifinal round before dropping a tough decision to eventual champ New Bedford Boys' Club.

Andover roared from behind to edge the Faunce Corner Club of Brockton 36-35 in the quarterfinals, but was nudged 34-31 by NBCC in the semis.

The Andover All-Star ninth graders moved to the championship final in their division at Wakefield, erasing a 10-point halftime deficit enroute to an impressive 61-52 semifinal round verdict over the Everett Rats.

A combined Andover All-Star freshman-sophomore group opened play in the annual Lexington Invitational Tournament by outscrapping the South Boston Boys' Club 62-57 at the Hayden Recreation Center.

The Andover sixth graders rounded out the busy weekend by placing third in the first annual St. Augustine's School Invitational Tournament which drew 29 teams.

Andover opened with a convincing 40-11 romp over Hampstead, N.H., nipped St. Joseph's of Salem, N.H. 31-30 in the quarterfinal round, dropped a 33-23 decision to the North Andover Boosters in the semifinals, and slipped past Old Methuen Realty 39-35 in the consolation game for third place.

Andover All-Star players Chris Bartley and Mike Lane were named to All-Tournament teams, Bartley at the New Bedford tourney and Lane at the St. Augustine's tourney.

The sixth graders completed their season with an overall record of 6-2, advancing to the Saugus Ironworks Tournament title game earlier before dropping a one-point decision.

The seventh grades are now 11-2 this season and 17-3 over the past two years, while the ninth graders are 3-0 and the eighth graders 1-2.

The combined tournament record for the four teams to date is 21-6 this year and 37-10 over two seasons (seven tourney championships).

Tomorrow night the eighth graders face Orchard Park of Roxbury in the opening round of the Lexington Invitational.

On Sunday the seventh graders will duel a strong Quincy crew in the Wakefield title game at 1 p.m., while the ninth graders meet Malden in their Wakefield championship contest at 3 p.m.

The seventh graders also resume play in the Lawrence JCC tourney this weekend, while the freshman-sophomore squad engages the Arlington Boys' Club in second round play of the Lexington Tournament.

Andover 7th All-Stars

Andover constructed a 28-15 halftime lead against Beverly in the quarterfinals at Wakefield, then traded buckets with that team as the losers never mounted a serious challenge over the final two periods of Andover's 46-35 triumph.

John Perry poured through 14 first half points, while Kurt Burzlaff contributed seven to key the locals' surge.

Chris Poor's six third quarter points boosted the Andover lead to 41-25, while the only offense mustered in the final period were five free throws over the last two minutes.

Perry finished as game-high marksman with 17 points, and he also notched four steals and four rebounds.

Burzlaff had 10 points and five rebounds. Poor 8 points, and Chris Colsia produced 4 points, 9 rebounds and 2 blocked shots.

Although he netted just two points, Steve Redgate added 6 rebounds, 4 steals and 2 assists.

Nick Coon delivered 3 points, Jeff Smith 2 and John Twomey played a solid defensive game with 4 steals.

Steve Twombly pocketed 10 points and Lance Kerr 9 for Beverly.

Andover played the Everett Rats in the Wakefield semifinals just 30 minutes after the completion of the JCC game in Lawrence, and the locals slowed the tempo in the second half and pulled away impressively for a 60-35 victory.

Andover got caught up in a running game with the Rats during the first half, a style they wanted to, avoid because of the wo back-to-back contests.

The locals survived, earning a 15-10 first period lead and a 31-24 halftime cushion behind the outstanding inside play of Colsia and Redgate.

Colsia poured through 14 points in the opening two quarters, Redgate added 6, and that pair joined Burzlaff to dominate the boards.

The winners slowed the pace in the third and fourth stanzas, building the lead to 42-29 after three with Nick Coon and John Perry tossing through four points each.

A balanced fourth quarter attack, featuring six different scorers, put Everett to rest as the rats were outgunned 18-6.

Colsia led three Andover players into double digits with a game-high 18 points, while Redgate and Perry contributed 14 points apiece.

Coon flipped through 6 points, Jeff Smith 4, Pete Derba 2 and Chris Poor 2.

Redgate was immense under the boards with 16 rebounds, while Colsia added 10. Burzlaff 9, Coon 5, and Derba 5.

Joh Perry chalked up 6 assists and John Twomey chipped in a strong defensive effort.

Dave Fiali was the big gun for Everett with 17 points and several pretty assists.

Andover shot extremely well from the free throw line as Redgate converted 6-of-7, Colsai 4-of-5 and the team 12-of-18.

The Andover seventh graders had trouble getting untracked in the JCC quarterfinals against St. Joseph's of Salem, N.H., falling behind 6-4 early and managing just an 8-6 lead after one quarter.

However, the locals' full-court zone press disturbed St. Joe's in the second period as Colsiz and Redgate combined for 13 points to key a 15-0 run for a commanding 23-6 lead.

The victors completed the 44-20 triumph with a 21-14 second half scoring edge.

Colsia had another superb game with 17 points, Redgate chipped in 12, and once again that pair did yeoman duty off the boards.

Bowne, Clark Champions

Bowne of Boston defeated Indian Ridge Country Club 5-2 to win the Bantam Division championship of the Andover-North Andover Hockey League Sunday at Brooks School. In the PeeWee Division, Clark Motors gained the championship trophy defeating Rolf's 5-4 in sudden death overtime.

In the Bantam game Bowne took a 3-0 lead on goals by Dave Dilling, David Young and Tom Herling while goaltender Ken Young was keeping Indian Ridge off the board with outstanding net minding. In the third period Indian Ridge came alive and pulled within one goal. Mosa Kaleel combined with Bobby Smith to make it 3-1 and P.J. McCabe made it 3-2 with Rick McNeil assisting at the ten-minute mark. Kevin Murphy scored a power play goal and shifted the momentum back to Bowne moments later and then added an insurance goal with less than a minute to play.

In a game in which the lead changed four times, Clark Motors tied the game on a Jack Dalton penalty shot goal and won in overtime on a goal by Mark Livesay. With Rolf's leading 4-3 late in the contest Dalton was awarded a penalty shot when a Rolf's defender threw his stick at the puck in an attempt to stop a breakaway. After Dalton's heroics, Zac Bensley came up with the save of the game, stopping Chris Tetler's breakaway shot with 20 second left in the game and forcing the overtime. Matt LoPiano set up the winning goal for Clark as they became the first team in league history to finish the season undefeated.

Harvard Captures Senior Title

By Rick Harrison

Harvard captured its second straight championship in the Intermediate Division of the Andover Youth Basketball League, slamming Holy Cross in their showdown battle for the title last week at the West Junior High gym.

Both teams had finished the regular season with identical 9-1 records, splitting their two head-to-head meetings and forcing the one-game winner-take-all battle.

In other recent AYBL Intermediate play, Harvard posted a 45-24 decision over Villanova and a 63-25 assault on Boston College, while Holy Cross kept pace with a solid 37-22 triumph over North Carolina State and a 32-18 conquest of Villanova.

In other games at West Junior High, Boston College clinched third place with a 30-23 victory over Dartmouth, and North Carolina State edged Dartmouth 20-16.

Harvard and HC divided their two earlier meetings this season, the Crimson romping 32-14 in the first game and the Crusaders eking out a 21-20 decision in the rematch.

In addition to the playoff game last week, the annual foul shooting and 1-on-1 contests were held.

Chris Poor captured the foul shooting title by hitting 27-of-40, while John Perry earned the 1-on-1 championship with a tight triumph over Harvard teammate Steve Redgate in the final.

Harvard's John Perry won the AYBL Intermediate scoring championship, passing Chris Poor of N.C. State during the final week of the regular season. Perry finished with 156 points (the playoff game not counting) while Poor had 141.

Holy Cross, 51-26

Harvard, 13-2 last year, made it 10-1 this season and 23-3 over a two-year period with its convincing playoff triumph over Holy Cross.

John Perry led the Crimson offense with 15 points, Nick Coon netted 12 and Steve Redgate 10.

Rounding out the champs' attack were Chris Sapuppo with 6 points, Matt Dorsey 4, Chris Nelson 2 and Lisa Horgan 2.

Completing the Harvard roster are John Dorsey and Sue Grogan, both of whom were key contributors throughout the championship season.

Joe Hurley powered the Holy Cross answering fire with a personal season-high 10 points, while Chris Colsia added 8, John Twomey 5, Eric Goodman 2 and Dave Pickney a free throw.

Other hustling performances were provided by Brian Lannan, Robbie Stoltz and Pete Casaletto.

Boston College, 30-23

The Eagles (6-3) raced to an 18-12 first quarter lead, as both they and Dartmouth shot the eyes out of the basket.

The second period was the exact opposite, as BC's Kurt Burzlaff netted the only two points to give the winners a 20-12 halftime advantage.

Boston College saw its lead shrink to 20-18 after three periods, as Dartmouth went on a 6-0 run, but Burzlaff pumped through six fourth quarter points which enabled the Eagles to pull away a final time.

Burzlaff emerged as game-high corer with 10 points, while Mark Russell chipped in an individual season-high eight points, including six in the first period.

Jim Tacy and Jonathan Butt tossed through four points each and Sean Sullivan and John Glynn added single first period buckets.

Also playing well for BC were Andy Lascher and Andy Pauline.

Matt Gibson and Steve Mencis were the big guns for Dartmouth, pumping through 8 and 7 points, respectively, with Mencis' total a personal season high.

Tim Higgins and Steve Napolitano rounded out the Big Green attack with four points each, while Tim Plaehn contributed a strong all-around game.

Harvard, 45-24

The Crimson, nursing a slim 14-10 halftime lead, exploded for a 20-6 third quarter run to grab an insurmountable lead against Villanova.

John Perry, Steve Redgate and Chris Sapuppo combined to do all the offensive damage in that stanza.

Perry led all marksmen with 16 points, 14 of them in the second half, while Steve Redgate chipped in 12 points and Nick Coon 10 for potent Harvard.

Sapuppo pocketed six points and a fourth period free throw by Sue Grogan completed the Crimson offense.

Joey Tavilla guided the balanced Villanova crew with 8 points. Pete Derba added 5, Mark Tucker and Patrick Burns 4 each, Greg Kinsky 2 and Dave Vickers a free throw.

Dave Noyes and John Lutz rebounded well for the Wildcats, while Steve Hanley and Mike Giammasi played solid floor games.

Holy Cross, 37-22

The Crusaders rode Chris Colsia's eight points to an 11-2 first period lead, but North Carolina State came back to trail only 17-16 at halftime with Chris Poor and Brett Yannello sparking the attack.

A 7-0 third quarter burst gave HC some breathing room again, and the co-leaders proceeded to outscore the Wolfpack 13-6 in the fourth period enroute to their eighth consecutive triumph.

Colsia led all scorers with 17 points, John Twomey registered 9, Eric Goodman 6, Joe Hurley 4 and Dave Pickney a free throw for Holy Cross.

Chris Poor was limited to just 8 points, while Matt Fardy chipped in a season-high 6 points, Yannalfo added 4, Jim Flowers 2 and Jeff Valcourt a fourth quarter field-goal.

Eric Taro and Steve Howes were other N.C. State standouts.

Harvard, 63-25

The Crimson experienced little resistance from Boston College, taking a 12-2 first quarter lead and stretching it to a commanding 31-8 by halftime.

John Perry led the attack with 24 points, while Steve Redgate and Chris Sapuppo added 9 apiece for the multi-faceted Harvard crew.

Nick Coon and Chris Poor contributed 6 points each, Matt Dorsey 5 and single bas-

Senior League Concludes

South nipped upset-minded Christ Church 30-29, and St. Robert A overpowered Ballardvale United A 54-9, as the Andover Church Basketball League Senior Division concluded its season last week at the West Elementary gym.

South, 30-29

Center Gary Finlayson banked a fieldgoal from in close with one second remaining as South chalked up this exciting win over a spirited Christ Church team, that played its finest game of the year.

Christ moved to a 4-2 first period lead, and stretched it to 14-8 at halftime.

South heated up in the third period, outscoring Christ 15-9 to tie the score at 23-23.

Neither team was able to crank up much offense in the fourth quarter and South held a slim 28-27 lead with 45 seconds remaining.

At this point Peter Wright, who was a tower of strength for Christ on the boards, hit two clutch free throws to put his team ahead 29-28 and set the stage for Finlayson's dramatic basket.

Christ almost won the game because of their accurate foul shooting converting 9 for 13 while South managed only 4 for 13.

Gary Finlayson emerged as game-high scorer for the victors with 10 points, Jeff Penner and Scott Lattanzio netted 4 points apiece, Rob Hendry 3, Dave Sorrie 3 and single baskets were scored by Jay Carpentier, Rebecca Ellis and Phil Stocking.

Peter Wright led Christ with 8 points, including 4 for 4 from the charity line, Bill Earnshaw chipped in with 6, Keith Dauber 5, Mark Polakow 4, Roger Fisk 2, Dave Pratt 2 and Gretchen Suchodolski 2.

points, Dana Belpedio chipped in with 3 and Scott Jangro 2.

Mike Gibbons, Jenny Ward, John McIntyre and Sharon Worcester turned in hustling efforts for Ballardvale.

PeeWees Prep For Tourney

The PeeWee A hockey team easily won one and lost a close one last week as they gear up for a Rhode Island tournament which will bring the season to its conclusion in the next few weeks.

Andover 4 - Manchester 6

With several players on the injured list, Andover had their work cut out for them. Andover scored the first goal when Brent Raftery took a hard shot at the goalie and the surprised goalie could not hang on to the puck. Then Manchester pulled ahead 2-1.

Glenn Allard got the face off from Dave Riddiford and took the puck all the way into the zone. Joe Lyons was ready for the rebound and slid the puck by the goalie to light the lamp for Andover.

Manchester shared the control throughout the second period. The score was tied 3-3 before the buzzer, thanks to a lot of shooting by the Andover five. Steve Donovan sent the puck to Glenn Allard in the corner who passed to Mark Berberian. After several saves, Berberian finally put it by the floundering goalie. Manchester scored again with a bouncing slapshot. Donovan liked the shot and took a hard slapshot of his own, which the goalie dropped back into the net—score now 4-4.

Forward Matt Young and defensemen, Pat Breen, Peter Trede, Tom Tormey and Chris Sapuppo, were diligent as they struggled for the win. Goalie Chris Hansberry turned in a strong performance in net.

With two minutes left in the game, Manchester scored. The local boys pulled their goalie and peppered the opponent, but the puck got loose and Manchester scored an open net goal winning 6-4.

Andover 6 - Wakefield 4

At Danvers, Andover played one of their stronger games as they defeated Wakefield. The first period was scoreless, but Andover carried the play for the rest of the game.

In the second period, Pat Breen played forward for awhile and began the rally for goal number one. Breen and Mark Berberian combined to set up Brent Raftery who duped the goalie and slid the puck between his pads.

Defenseman Chris Sapuppo dazzled the crowd as he stickhandled through several Wakefield players and outwitted the goalie for the score.

Tom Tormey passed the puck lifting it over the net to Berberian who passed out to center and Breen backhanded it in. As play resumed, Jamie O'Brien and Glenn Allard were setting up another attack and dropped the pass to the point. Now playing defense, Breen scored when he took the slap shot from the right point.

The pressure was so strong, Wakefield found it difficult even to ice the puck. Andover was shorthanded during a penalty and Wakefield was finally able to get on the board.

Dave Riddiford, Matt Young, Steve Donovan and Pete Trede played heads up hockey and Chris Hansberry's defense of the net excelled. The fifth goal was scored by O'Brien as he deked the goalie with finesse. Assists went to Tom Tormey and Allard.

Joe Lyons began the final goal as he shot on net and Tormey threaded the puck into the slot to win the game 6-1.

PeeWee B Wilmington League Andover 6 - Cambridge 0

Andover had the edge in play in this game, but keeping it a shutout wasn't easy. It took a few minutes to settle down, and Ian Anderson, starting in goal, made several big saves right at the start. Some were on point-blank shots, and nobody realized it at the time, but he spent the first five minutes saving the shutout. And toward the end of the second period Tim Adams, who took over goal for the last half of the game, was called on to hang tough on some defensive lapses.

The rest of the time Andover carried the play well and got goals from each of the three line combinations. Robert Stoltz had a hat trick, picking up his third goal in the last two minutes on a nice breakaway. Brian Costello had the assists on all three of these goals. And on the other wing, Lou LoPresti did his usual hard work along the boards and in the corners.

With Andy Weiner missing this game, Hugh Maginnis moved up from defense to take regular shifts on right wing. He seemed to enjoy the chance to free-wheel a little, and got Andover's first goal with a nice shot off passes from Mike Nelligan and Jeff Leonard. Then later, Nelligan and Maginnis combined to assist on Leonard's shot which accounted for the fourth goal.

At defense Chris McAnally and Dan Hegarty were very solid, repeatedly breaking up Cambridge attacks. Peter Donegan had some good rushes into the zone. And John Leng had some excellent chances in the third period with hard and accurate wrist shots from the top of the circle. On one of John's shots, Doug Bleszinski crashed to the net and put home the rebound. His goal came with only four minutes left, to cap off a fine game by him and linemates, Danny Iandoli and Chris Boyle. Their passing in close around the net and their effective backchecking made big contribution to this win.

Road Race

The MEC Challenge First Annual Road Race, sponsored by the Merrimack Education Center, takes place Sunday, April 4, at 11 a.m., starting at Andover High School's gym.

Runners may enter either a 2.8 or 6.2 race, with first, second and third place awards offered in five different age categories in both races. The Merrimack Education Center, which provides research and training services to school teachers and administrators in 22 communities, also offers team prizes to school districts, counting the top three finishers in teacher, student, administrator and mixed categories.

Special mention should be made of Cambridge's fine goalie, Ed Frammartino, who gave Andover fits with several great saves, just as he did the first time these teams met earlier in the season. He stood up to Costello on a breakaway and denied his move that would have left most goalies wondering where the puck had gone. And, as if to show that wasn't just luck, he later picked off a couple of Leng's hard shots that came through a screen and were labeled for the corner.

Danvers League Andover 3 - Saugus 5

Andover played this game pretty well and probably deserved to win it, but it was the same story as the last time against Saugus, whose entire attack is based on two very fast and strong rushing defensemen. Doug Bleszinski drew the tough assignment of shadowing one, and did a fine job, while Dan Hegarty put in a strong effort at riding Saugus rushes off to the boards. Andover's defense pairings of John Leng, Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis, along with Hegarty, did a pretty good job against this two-man team, but a few miscues and some inconsistent backchecking by the front lines made all the difference.

Saugus had the first score, despite some heavy pressure by Andover. But Jeff Leonard tied it up after some hard digging with assists to Mike Nelligan and Andy Weiner. After a scoreless second period, Saugus pulled ahead and once again Andover tied it with Rob Stoltz getting the goal, assisted by Brian Costello.

Lou LoPresti played a solid game at left wing, and Chris Boyle with Danny Iandoli also looked good on several plays. But Saugus came through with two unanswered goals, and with Andover pressing in the closing minute, they added the clincher. Costello and Stoltz combined for another Andover score with only ten seconds left on the clock, to finish strong, but it was Saugus' game again.

Andover 3 - Masconomet 8

Andover worked very hard in this game and although Masco definitely beat them with an exceptionally strong effort, the score doesn't really indicate the many fine moments Andover had.

Throughout the first period, it looked like anybody's game. Andover opened with a great offensive effort and on the game's first shift, Brian Costello scored the first of his three goals to qualify for the hat trick patch. On his first two goals, Rob Stoltz had the assist and on both a lot of hard digging in close was responsible for the eventual tally. The second Andover goal tied things up at two apiece after Masco had pulled even and then gone ahead. Masco pulled ahead by two, but Costello then came back with his third score to keep Andover in the game. This time Lou LoPresti started the play with some good control at the edge of the circle to finally get a pass across to Stoltz, who moved it to Costello.

On the game's second shift, right after the first Andover goal, Mike Nelligan, Andy Weiner and Jeff Leonard continued the pressure and just missed on a couple of scoring chances.

Defensemen Peter Donegan and Hugh Maginnis each had several exciting rushes and scoring bids from defense, but the Masco defense and goaltending held firm. A couple of times John Leng switched from defense to the forward lines and played very well up front. Dan Hegarty and Chris McAnally also looked good at defense.

Dan Iandoli's line, with Chris Boyle and Doug Bleszinski at wins, look better every game and did an excellent job of controlling play and reaking up Masco efforts in the center ice zone.

But it was obviously Masco's night. They just kept coming and made their own breaks to take a well deserved win. To Andover's credit, they never quit and even in the dying minutes, spirit and determination were high and the talk on the bench

Mites

Wakefield 3 - Andover 3

In a chippy affair, marked by 15 penalties, Wakefield interrupted Andover's Danvers League winning streak last Saturday. Desperate defense and superb goaltending kept Wakefield in it, despite an opening penalty shot by Brian Lane and a behind-the-goal turned in by Sean Darwin. Indeed it looked as though Wakefield was going to steal a victory on an error by goalie Chris Pothier. It took an excellent shot by Kevin Smith late in the third period to alvage a point for Andover.

The Mites can still control their own destiny with two more regular season games to go and make the playoffs. To do so they must post victories against strong Chelsea and Haverhill teams. The task is challenging, but not impossible.

Andover 3 - Chelsea 8

The Mites did themselves a favor last Saturday bearing highly-placed Chelsea and moving one step closer to a playoff berth. The win was achieved without several regulars, demanding extra duties for those in attendance.

Sean Darwin led the charge with a hat trick and two assists. Colin Nix and the mysterious Kevin Smith came in with four points each. Further goals from Brian Lane and Stephen Neal and an assist from Peter Arthur completed the tally. Chris Pothier and Kevin Lane shared goaltending duties and did all that was asked of them. In Lou Stella's absence, Bob Smith took over the coaching. There was little problem with the players being reminded of their task.

The team must win its last regular season game this Saturday against Haverhill to clinch a playoff spot. They—and Bob Smith—control their own destiny.

Arlington Tournament

A strengthened Mites side came up against strong opposition last weekend, participating in an eight-team invitational event at Arlington. Games against Waltham, South Boston and Everett put the kets were netted by Sue Grogan and Lisa Horgan.

Andy Lascher tossed through 7 points for BC, John Glynn and Andy Pauline popped through 4 apiece, and single baskets were notched by Kurt Burzlaff, Mark Russell, Kevin Mayberry, Jim Tacy and Sean Sullivan.

Holy Cross, 32-18

The Crusaders had a tough struggle against Villanova for three quarters, leading just 19-15 at that time, but Chris Colsia sparked a 13-3 last period run to put the game away for Holy Cross.

Colsia emerged as game-high scorer with 14 points, John Twomey contributed 8, Joe Hurley and Mark Neaves 4 each, and free throws were swished by Brian Lannan and Dave Pickney.

Dave Vickers paced the Wildcats' answering fire with 7 points, Mark Tucker hooped 4, Pete Derba 3, and single baskets were pocketed by Dave Noyes and Joey Tavilla.

Steve Hanley, Patrick Burns and Greg Kinsky also played well for Villanova.

N.C. State, 20-16

The Wolfpack finally produced that long-awaited first victory, grabbing an 11-3 first period lead over Dartmouth and then hanging tough the rest of the way.

Chris Poor ignited the N.C. State offense with 12 points, Matt Fardy and Brett Yanalfo swished 3 apiece, and Steve Howes contributed a bucket.

Other standouts were Kyle Hovious, Jim Flowers, Derek Brucato, Jeff Valcourt and Eric Tatro.

Tim Higgins pumped through 7 points for Dartmouth, while Matt Gibson netted 4, Steve Mencis 3 and Scott Powers 2.

Other stalwarts were Chris Hekimian, Tim Plaehn, Jeff Hurley and Jon Daly.

for the Andover team. Two sets of achievements stand out. First, Andover scored goals as pretty as any other team's, but just could not do so with quite the same frequency. Second, players from the "third line," John Melello, Ryan Moynihan, Stephen Neal, Kevin Lane, Chris Pothier and Joey Ligouri, equipped themselves very well indeed, and marched their opponent's skating throughout. Their confidence, and the good future of Andover Hockey Association, both seem assured.

Hornpipe and Clog Society

On Sunday, April 4, at 3 p.m., the Gloucester Hornpipe and Clog Society will perform at the Peabody Museum of Salem. They will present a concert of Irish, English and American instrumentals and songs as well as sea chanties and traditional tunes from such countries as Italy, Greece, Israel, Yugoslavia and Scotland.

There is no charge for the concert above museum admission; members free. For further information, call the museum.

Warrior Skiers In Meet

The Andover High ski team finished in a respectable showing in the team standing at the MIAA State Ski Tournament held last week at Bradford Ski Area. The boys' team comprised of Rob Retelle, John Thompson, John Receso and Charlie Lamson scored points to finish ninth tied with St. John's Prep. The girls' team, led by Tina Sutton's 11th place finish overall and consisting of Ann Concerni, Vicki Simpson and Tracey Hostetter, finished ninth in their division.

MVSL champion Haverhill captured first place in the boys' division.

The Warriors ski team, comprised mainly of sophomores and juniors, had a very successful season. With a large group of veterans returning, Coach Schimmil is looking forward to a more successful campaign next year.

Raytheon Earnings At Record

Raytheon Company reported record sales, earnings, and earnings per share for the eleventh consecutive year. Net income increased 14.8 percent on a 12.7 percent sales increase over 1980.

Net income for 1981 was $324.0 million, or $3.86 per share, compared to $282.3 million, or $3.40 per share, in 1980. In 1981 sales increased to $4.636 billion from $5.002 billion a year earlier.

Principal contributors to the record performance were government electronic systems, aircraft products, and geophysical exploration.

It was the first full year of production for the Raytheon-developed Patriot air defense missile system. Production also began on advanced versions of Sparrow and Sidewinder air-to-air missiles and continued at high levels for other government systems including electronic countermeasures and shipboard radar and sonar systems.

Beech Aircraft posted another record year exceeding $900 million in sales for the first time. Seismograph Service Corp. led Raytheon's energy services activity with record performance in domestic and foreign oil and gas exploration and velocity well-logging. The D.C. Heath publishing unit also reported a record year.

In the fourth quarter of 1981 Raytheon's net income was $79.3 million, or $.94 a share, versus $68.4 million, or $.82 a share, in 1980. Fourth quarter sales increased to $1.525 billion from $1.328 billion a year earlier.

The 1980 per share data are restated to reflect the two-for-one stock split in June 1981. Earnings per share are based on the average number of shares outstanding during the period. For the year, there was an average of 84.0 million shares outstanding in 1981 and 83.0 million in 1980. Average shares outstanding in the fourth quarter of 1981 were 84.2 million compared with 83.3 million a year earlier.

At year end, Raytheon's total backlog stood at $5.444 billion compared with $5.732 billion at the end of 1980. The U. S. Government-funded portion of the backlog amounted to $2.166 billion compared with $1.977 billion a year earlier.

Provision for federal and foreign taxes in 1981 was $214.1 million. In 1980, the tax provision was $197.2 million. In the fourth quarter, tax provisions were $53.2 million in 1981 and $48.7 million in 1980.

Raytheon employed 76,500 people

Gillette Sales Are Unchanged

Sales and net income of The Gillette Company in 1981 were virtually unchanged but profit from operations rose well above the level of a year ago. Colman M. Mockler, Jr., chairman and chief executive officer, reported. Sales in the fourth quarter were slightly lower than the same period in 1980, while net income was slightly higher. Profit from operations in the quarter was sharply higher than the year earlier.

Sales for the year were $2,334,397,000, an increase of 1 percent over the $2,315,294,000 of 1980. Profit from operations was $311,962,000, up 12 percent from $277,607,000 a year earlier. Pretax income was $216,791,000, up 2 percent from $213,577,000 in 1980. Consolidated net income was $124,291,000 compared with $123,977,000 the year before. Earnings per share were $4.11 for both years.

Net income reflects accounting changes resulting from application of the new Financial Accounting Standard No. 52 covering foreign currency translation. Under the new standard, earnings per share are higher by $1.42 for the year and an adjustment has been made directly to stockholders' equity. For the first three quarters of 1981, earnings per share have been restated to $3.26 per share from $2.18 per share previously reported, an increase of $1.08 per share for the nine months. Net income for 1980 has not been restated as the effect would not be material.

Net exchange losses, resulting primarily from balance sheet translation related to Latin America, were higher than the prior year and net interest expense was above that of a year earlier.

Sales and operating profits of Gillette North America were above those of the prior year. Gillette International's sales were level with last year, but operating profits rose. Sales and operating profits of Braun A.G. in 1981 were below the year earlier. The steep decline in major European currency exchange rates adversely affected both Gillette International's and Braun's sales and operating profits when reported in United States dollars. Sales of Diversified Companies were slightly lower than 1980 but operating profits were sharply higher.

For the fourth quarter ended December 31, 1981, sales declined 5 percent to $599,789,000, compared with $628,167,000 in 1980. Profit from operations was $76,674,000, up 31 percent from $58,664,000 the year before. Pretax income was $49,657,000, up 31 percent from $37,805,000 for the same period in the prior year. Consolidated net income was $25,612,000, an increase of 4 percent

Raytheon To Hire 100 Workers

Raytheon Data Systems announced plans to hire an additional 100 production workers, a 10 percent increase in the work force for data terminal products.

Most of the additions will be at the Norwood plant, where production is being increased to reflect higher bookings in the past few months.

David R.A. Steadman, president of Raytheon Data Systems, said the division's sales of all products, and particularly the PTS-2000 data system, are exceeding the levels of a year ago. He said the planned increase in production is unrelated to the recent reorganization and reduction in administrative staff accompanying the consolidation of field sales and service functions and financial administration.

with the Greater Lawrence Chamber of Commerce since 1975, when he was appointed chairman of the Government Affairs Committee. In 1976 he was elected a director by the organization's membership, and in 1979 was elected a vice-president by the board of directors.

Exhibit

Celebrating the coming of spring, the Essex Institute of Salem presents an exhibition of paintings, photographs, plans and souvenir memorabilia relating to Salem's principal parks: Forest River (including Pioneer Village), the Common, and the Wil-lows and Winter Island in the McCarthy Gallery through May 24. Through different eras, Salem's parks have changed much in physical appearance and use. For example, George Ropes' 1806 painting of the Salem Common—a favorite of Essex Institute visitors—shows the militia parading under tall, slender poplar trees. But, by the time that Professor Roger staged his balloon ascension in 1887, Victorian Salemites were surrounded by stately elms.

In addition to the documentation of existing parks, the exhibit will include plans for parks which have never materialized, such as the grand beaux arts designs of Massachusetts Institute of Technology student Frances Ropes in 1904 for Winter Island (loaned by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Museum)

The first oranges may have grown in southern China or Burma, where they were cultivated as early as 1500 B.C.

Picnic

The Northern Essex Community College Alumni Association is making plans for a picnic for all alumni, faculty and staff of the college and their families on Sunday, June 6, from noon to 5 p.m. on the campus located just off Rte. 110, Exit 52 from Rte. 495 in Haverhill.

A variety of activities for children and adults will be offered free of charge throughout the afternoon, including hay rides, races, games and athletic events. Music and entertainment will add to the festive atmosphere, and refreshments will be available at a modest cost for those who choose not to bring their own food.

Chairman of the picnic committee is Sarasue Mueller of Andover, a 1979 graduate of the college's nursing program. Charles Lombardo of Methuen will be in charge of the food committee, and Jane Welch of Haverhill will head the field and track and athletic events. They are being assisted by a large committee of alumni, including Ruth Horton of this citation.

Witness, Albert P. Petto-ruto, Esquire, First Judge of said Court, this fourth day of March 1982.

Ciro's Bakery — A Variety Of American And European Specialties

It's all started 85 years ago when Ciro Giordano left Naples and settled in the North End of Boston, opening one of its first bakeries. Baking was learned as an art and Ciro's grandson, Jim Giordano, now brings that special tradition to Andover.

Ciro's, Shasheen Plaza, Andover, offers the area's finest European pastries, American pastries, breads, rolls, doughnuts, pies and cakes. They specialize in pure whipped cream products. Everything is made fresh on the premises by owner Jim Giordano. No preservatives or artificial additives are added to any item — just wholesome, fresh ingredients.

Ciro's distinguishes itself from other bakeries because their wide variety of Italian pastries and American pastries are both made exceptionally well.

Another specialty offered at Ciro's is the freshly baked pizza, quiche and calzones available for take-out and ready by noon time each day. Quiches are lorraine, spinach and mushroom; calzones are filled with fresh ham, pepperoni and cheese or spinach; and any pizza combinations can be made to order. Ciro's also sells frozen pizza dough. Come in and try their croissants — they're great!

Fresh hot coffee is always available at Ciro's so when you stop in for their terrific doughnuts each morning, remember that you don't have to make that second stop before reaching work. Or how about a fresh cannoli? Ciro's cannolis are filled to order.

Ciro's is preparing many Easter specials to delight your family and guests. They have an assortment of cupcakes, bunny cakes and egg cakes, specially decorated for the holiday.

In addition there is pizza dolce, pizza rustica, egg breads, zuppe inglese, truffolli and hot cross buns. So try Ciro's for the area's finest pastries. The sales staff is directed by Ellen Guerre and Elaine Foote. Hours are Mon.-Sat. 7:30-8:00 and Sun. 7:30-2:00. Tel. 475-1614.

Marsha S. Rubin, R.E. — Permanent Hair Removal

Right now you are probably preparing for the beautiful months of spring and summer with a new diet, hairstyle or wardrobe. Why not finally rid yourself of unwanted hair too? Marsha Rubin, a registered electrologist, offers you a safe and effective method to remove hair on bikini lines, legs and abdomen, in addition to facial hair.

There are three times in a woman's life when she can notice changes in hair growth: puberty, pregnancy and menopause. If you have ever felt bothered or embarrassed about a hair problem, then you should think about electrolysis.

Electrolysis is the only method of permanent hair removal approved by the American Medical Association. Electrologists are professionals who use specialized equipment to achieve hairfree, carefree results. Trained, qualified practitioners can custom tailor an electrolysis program suited to your specific hair removal needs.

Marsha Rubin is a graduate of an accredited electrolysis school and worked under another electrologist before opening her own business. Since opening in Olde Andover Village she has provided many women with the beautiful results that electrolysis offers. Marsha had a hair problem at one time and understands how psychologically beneficial electrolysis can be. She was thrilled with the results and knows that you will be too.

Marsha offers you eyebrow shaping, and facial and body hair removal. There are no side effects when done under the hands of a skilled operator and there is no pain—just beautiful results!

You might see other methods of hair removal advertise, but electrolysis is the only way to permanently remove hair. Other methods such as waxing, tweezing and use of depilatories are not permanent and can cause more damage than good by stimulating hair growth and damaging skin. Electrolysis is not an overnight process, but spending the time for it now is slight compared to removing hair yourself for the rest of your life.

Marsha offers you a free consultation, so call her today. You're never too old for permanently sleek, smooth skin. Marsha S. Rubin, R.E., Olde Andover Village, 89 Main St., Andover Tuesday-Saturday, Tel. 475-6089.

The chairman said he was also "impressed" with the amount of work the developer had put into the new plans, because it probably indicated a serious intention to carry them out.

Newsletter Issued

On April 1, the first issue of "The Mother Connection" Newsletter will be distributed, marking the culmination of one and a half year's work to meet the needs of mothers and children in the Andover-North Andover area. This work has been headed by Marlies Zammuto and a ten-member steering committee. Their goals are to provide information, resources, support and recreation for mothers and children, and to provide the opportunity for women to share their expertise and interests. "The Mother Connection," a non-profit organization, will send out an informative monthly newsletter and will sponsor workshops, rap session, field trips, family activities, along with many other activities.

Membership forms for the newsletter may be picked up in Memorial
